

Make relative clauses.

- Mrs Black is our maths teacher. Her pictures are brilliant.
_____
- Penny is from a rich family. She loves Tim.
_____
- They went to a museum. It was really interesting.
_____
- Everyone saw the guitar. It cost very much money.
_____
- Can you see the girl? Her clothes are all pink!
_____
- The Anglo-Saxons were farmers. They lived in villages.
_____
- The CD is very good. Bob gave it to me as a birthday present.
_____

Put in the correct relative pronoun (but don't use THAT).

Most children _____ like music very much can play an instrument, too.
There are different kinds of music _____ they are interested in.
Carlos _____ plays the saxophone likes jazz music and the band
_____ he likes best is U2. Mrs Maxwell prefers the singers _____ were popular when she was young. She thinks that pop music (a kind of music _____ she hates) is not good for learning languages! Mrs Maxwell _____ husband is a children's doctor even tries to use classical music in her classes. She hopes that the students will learn better like this.

- Mrs Black is our maths teacher. Her pictures are brilliant.
Mrs Black is our maths teacher whose pictures are brilliant.
- Penny is from a rich family. She loves Tim.
Penny who loves Tim is from a rich family.
- They went to a museum. It was really interesting.
They went to a museum which was really interesting.
- Everyone saw the guitar. It cost very much money.
Everyone saw the guitar which cost very much money.
- Can you see the girl? Her clothes are all pink!
Can you see the girl whose clothes are all pink?
- The Anglo-Saxons were farmers. They lived in villages.
The Anglo-Saxons who lived in villages were farmers.
- The CD is very good. Bob gave it to me as a birthday present.
The CD which Bob gave me as a birthday present is very good.

Most children who like music very much can play an instrument, too. There are different kinds of music which they are interested in.

Carlos who plays the saxophone likes jazz music and the band which he likes best is U2. Mrs Maxwell prefers the singers who were popular when she was young. She thinks that pop music (a kind of music which she hates) is not good for learning languages! Mrs Maxwell whose husband is a children's doctor even tries to use classical music in her classes. She hopes that the students will learn better like this.